EAST WIND—FIVE HULL'S THIRD LIBERTY LOAN
The Town Committee of the Hull
Liberty Loan, C. V. Nickerson, chairman, has, up to Wednesday morning,
over $80,000 subscribed in the Third Liberty Loan and subscriptions are still coming in. With two committees working "tooth and nail" it looks as if the old saying "As Goes Hull So Goes the State," would if lived up to by the state, put Massachusetts away up on the honor roll. A little opposition and friendly rivalry is a good thing once in a while, we opine but let us all keep
the acid out of our dispositions and the vinegar out of our voice. What has been raised by the Hull Independent Society is, as it is understood by the writer in addition to that raised by the so-called official committee. Any one good at arithmetic can see that the town has more than doubled its quota.
The desire of the editor of the Hull
East Wind is to give everyone due credit and to report everything that rebounds to the good name of the town.
The two reports given should be taken together so far as results and credit for
our fair town is concerned.

SURGICAL DRESSING CLASS
The Surgical Dressings class recently
formed in Hull has held two meetings.
It is expected that an afternoon class
will be formed also, to accommodate
those who cannot attend the Wednesday evening meetings. Mrs. Maud Mitchell is the Hull Village director and will answer all questions.

HULL INDEPENDENT ASSOCIATION IN THE BIG LIBERTY LOAN DRIVE IN HULL ON PATRIOT'S DAY

The Hull Independent Ass'n. which was organized in the Mitchell campaign
proved to be real patriots when it comes to selling bonds. Although totally ignored by the political ring of the town
this organization at a rally given by
them in the interest of the bond sale
for the town sold through the agency
of F. H. Sylvester who was appointed by the Life insurance committee of New England last February over $7000,
in bonds in $50 and $100 subscriptions.
The total number of bonds sold being 65, which makes the grand total for this organization to date $79,050. An important factor in this particular instance is the showing made by this new organization after the town had been so thoroughly and systematically canvassed by the so-called town committee.
The Local town committee of which Mr.
C. V. Nickerson is chairman saw fit to send out 30 notices to his political friends and included Mr. John Mitchell who was made chairman of the subscription committee at the meeting
which was called through these notices.
The Independent Ass'n. realizing the position in which Mr. Mitchell was placed volunteered to cooperate with him
that he might make a success of the undertaking which was to raise the quota of $20,000 and the result is that the town will more than double its quota. Mr. D. J. Murphy who is Pres.
of the organization gave the free use of the Bayside theatre of which he is proprietor and a free show for everybody was announced and advertised.
The center of the town was well represented and enjoyed the pictures which were of a patriotic nature and also the speakers among them being the most prominent summer and winter residents
of the town and also Mr. Humphren
of Missouri representing the N. E. Loan Committee. Mr. W. G. Eaton spoke briefly on the importance of the Liberty Loan to this town as did also Mr.
Jas. S. Blake of Allerton hill who also recited a most beautiful toast to the flag. The committee is composed of F. H. Sylvester, Chas. John L. Mitchell, George H. Hatchard, Julian B.
Hart, Richard Rhines, David Purly,
Capt. Rathburn, John Clarke, L. N.
Gillman, Jas. Walsh, W. B. Sylvester,
W. F. Ettinger, Charles V. Antone, E.
D. Wyner, Hugh Bloodgood, Wm. H.
Sylvester, Robert Bryanton, Lloyd Miller, Guy Ettinger, and Mr. Wm. G. Eaton
of the school board.
(Signed) Hull Independent Ass'n.

PAINFUL ACCIDENT

While running to respond to a false
alarm of fire on Monday evening, Mr.
William Hatchard, brother of Engineer
George Hatchard, was struck by Chief Mitchell's car as it was driven out of the fire station by Fred L. Mitchell.
Mr. Hatchard was so intent upon getting to the fire station that he did not hear the horn and so got in the way of the auto. No blame is attached to any-
one. It was simply one of those unavoidable accidents. Mr. Hatchard was immediately taken to the Sturgis Hospital and later removed to his home.
His shoulder was dislocated and he was otherwise bruised, but not seriously as
was at first supposed.

EFFECTIVE SLOGAN

"Max Mitchell, director-general of the Liberty Loan Jewish Committee, tells me," says the Observer Citizen, "that
the slogan of the Committee, 'A Liberty Bond in every Jewish home,' is proving
very effective as reports thus far show
that every such resident in both Milford
and Chelmsford has subscribed. Mr.
Mitchell is a summer resident at Waver-
land, Hull.

COUNCIL OF DEFENSE FAVORS SCHOOL DISTRICT ORGANIZA- TIONS

In a statement urging the creation of "community councils" the Council of National Defense cities these advantages of the school district as a unit
of community organization.

The school district is small enough to permit individual contact, and is non-political.

The schoolhouse supplies a meeting
place in each district, and in many schools includes domestic science, manual training, and other facilities.

The school district reaches children
and parents alike, and in the cities the school is, to a large extent, already in touch with the adult population.

The school is an established center of information and education.

The school principal or faculty provides a tried agency through whose assistance community organization can be quickly effected.

The school district, with the schoolhouse as its center, is already a social
community, especially in farm districts.

COHASSET RECORD AND FILE COM- MITTEE.

Spartanburg, So. Carolina,
Feb. 22nd, 1918.

Friend George:

Your very kind letter received and I
again want to thank you for favoring
me so. I can realize your vast amount of work in keeping track of Cohasset
boys in the service, and the mail you have to answer. Well George, keep up the good work. I think it splendid of the other members of the Committee,
also.

I read the Home Paper containing my letter to you and I must say you are some publisher. I could see it had undergone little pruning, by a skillful proofreader. I am mighty glad I did not roast anyone. Let me tell you now that I have had a few winks of sleep
what has happened to us in the past week. We first became Co. K, 3rd Pioneer Inf't., and left Charlotte last Monday (arriving at 5 a. m.) and landing
here at midnight in the teeth of a rain storm and plenty of mud. The latter seems to be a disease with us, until
the sanitary officer gets busy.

We reached our location in this Camp
after hiking some hike to a quarantine
camp where by the way all incoming troops must go and stay a period of at least 4 days. We worked the rest of the hours into the morning and all
next day and some work unloading and setting up all in the rain and mud (all the fellows will vouch for this word) I crawled into my bunk Wednesday at 10 p. m. some tired. We are not allowed to go from our Co. street, but we are told that if we come out of this quarantine O. K. we will move into a splendid section of this vast Camp so that is encouraging. We are all well

so far and will be happy to get out of (prison) and see something. It is rumored that this outfit will be soon on its way to join the other chaps "over-there." I want to tell you there is a big difference in the mud here and that of Charlotte, there it lasted forever but here the minute the rain stopped the mud was soon gone on account of a sandy soil. It is a very pretty sight
where we are, all white tents set among among pine trees on a slope. White tents means purity I suppose. I will write you later and tell you all about the place.

It was interesting to read your letter
telling about all the boys from home
and what they were doing and where they are stationed. I certainly do enjoy reading it. Pass this manuscript to the editor, who has no heart, this time,
George, where it will reach the waste
basket as I told you I would write interestingly later. Kindly give my regards to all at home, trusting you are all comfortable and well. Please overlook all mistakes as it is some time since I used one of these machines, I happened into our Co. clerk's tent and
am taking advantage of his Remington.

Yours,
BILL MORRIS,
Co. K, 3rd Pioneer Inf't.,
Camp Wadsworth, Spartanburg,
So. Carolina.

Sold by reliable druggists in sealed packages, three, six, and twelve. Money refunded if they do not help you. Accept no imitations. GOLD MEDAL. All others are imitations. Adv.

EGYPTIAN DECORATIONS IN HOMES.
This year there is a strong Egyptian element in household furnishings. It is a year of varied influences in cloth fashions so it is an eclectic period in interiors. We do not stick so closely to one period as we used to, but we go here and there and combine such elements as we like from various historic backgrounds. From Egypt we have got some of the best of the spring designs in chintzes and cretonnes. Some of them show Egyptian mural decorations. They are worked out cleverly in the red and yellow of Egypt with a plentiful use of black and white.

ALLEN'S FOOT-EASE DOES IT.

HOW TO AVOID BACKACHE AND NERVOUSNESS

Told by Mrs. Lynch From Own Experience.

Providence, R. I.—"I was all run down in health, was nervous, had headaches, my back ached all the time. I was tired and had no ambition for anything. I had taken a number of medicines which did me no good. One day I read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and what it had done for women, so I tried it. My nervousness and backache and weight and feeling, so I can honestly recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to any woman who is suffering as I was. —Mrs. ADELIN B. LYNCH, 100 Plain St., Providence, R. I. Backache and nervousness are symptoms or nature's warnings, which indicate a functional disturbance or an unhealthy condition which often develops into a more serious ailment. Women in this condition should not continue to drag along without help, but profit by Mrs. Lynch's experience, and try this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Private Monson

By LYNN ROBY MEEKINS

(Copyright, 1918, Western Newspaper Union.)

It was in the midst of the Civil war. Harner went out to take a last look at the field. A battle would certainly be fought the next day. His own inferences had been corroborated by a hint from the headquarters to which he was temporarily attached.

When he first appeared as a war correspondent, full of the romance that his work promised, he waited for the fight and then threw into his descriptions all the resources of his ready pen and prompt vocabulary, but it would not do. He soon found that by the time his copy was ready the other fellows held the wires and he was left to receive pleasant messages from the home office about dispatches being quite good, but somewhat ancient, with an occasional reminder that the paper he represented was not a monthly publication.

So he learned to gather and arrange the preliminaries and then to dash in the details where the cannons were booming and the bullets were scoring their points with human lives in the great and glorious game of war. Even with the swiftness that experience had brought to him his lot was far from happy. He did not mind hard work—that was a part of the business—but after he had run through one of the hottest and prettiest skirmishes he had ever seen, had witnessed wonderful deeds of valor, and had taken his own life in his hands and made a bold dash across country to a telegraph station, only to receive in acknowledgment of his superb description the message, "Adjectives are cheap and telegraph tolls are not," his feelings were honestly hurt. True it was that the skirmish was but an incident in the mighty conflict between the great sections of a great country and history has not found space to mention it, but Harner knew that it was more savage and picturesque than many of the battles to which pages were given, and he wrote as he saw.

Then, too, there was the restraint of his work. When a soldier is fired at he has the satisfaction of firing back,

"You Can Fix It as You Please."

but it is never pleasant to have the other fellow do all the shooting. As a correspondent Harner was a non-combatant. He was shot at as much as any of the soldiers and a great deal more than some of them, and he simply had to stand it without the privilege of returning the compliment.

But he had become used to it all now, and the battle of the morrow must be attended to. He knew the locations of the commands; he believed he had the plans of the fight, and he wanted to get the field of operations so clear in his mind that his account would be as accurate in its topography as in its other important particulars. He had permission to rove within the lines and he was on his way to the line.

As he turned into a path which would save him some of the distance a young soldier overtook him. He was handsome and young, with the rosy health of perfect physical manhood. Harner viewed him closely and into his mind came a pity that such hope should be used as food for gunpowder.

"My name is Monson, Company C. Eight volunteers," he said, "and I want you to do me a favor."

"Very glad to do anything I can," replied Harner.

"Your paper goes to our town and anything that is printed about us will be read there," he went on. "What I ask you is a little strange, but I know that you can do it without much trouble to yourself."

"Well, what is it?"

"In your dispatch about tomorrow's fight I want you to report as dead William H. Monson, private in Company C, who enlisted from Spring Falls."

Harner took a more careful look at the young man, but there was nothing in his countenance to indicate that he was either insane or illiterate. But it seemed to be a jest and Harner smiled.

"How would you like it put?" he asked.

"I don't understand."

"Of course you want to die a hero's death. Shall I have you leading your company over the enemy's ramparts; or dashing forth to grasp the flag from hostile hands; or picking up a burning bomb; or throwing yourself in front of your captain to save his precious uniform from an approaching bullet;—or shall it be just a plain case of death in the line of duty with only an empty knapsack and a visiting card to tell the story of a life cut down in the bloom of youth?"

"You can fix it as you please," said the young man solemnly. "I suppose you newspaper fellows have to put things in to fill up and as I am going to die it won't make much difference how it happens. But I'll be satisfied with just a line—just say I'm dead. That's all I ask."

"Simply because I won't," said Harner with emphasis.

The soldier stood as if undetermined what to do. Then he looked up and said: "Well, never mind, for you'll have to do it anyhow."

"I hope not," replied Harner, and more seriously, "you're too young to die. Your country needs you even if your sweetheart doesn't."

Blushing deeply and stammering something which Harner did not understand the soldier turned and walked rapidly away.

The battle was fought. Throughout the conflict Harner was here, there and everywhere getting facts and names and details. There was no time in that awful slaughter to notice trifles. Human lives were as cheap as grass and were mowed down as mercilessly. So it happened that it was not until several days later when the papers containing the reports reached the moving army that Harner observed his own report:

"Monson, William H.—Private Company C. Enlisted from Spring Falls. Shot through the shoulder while saving company's colors."

In the next issue was a dispatch from Spring Falls saying that Monson was one of the best young men of Spring Falls and that his death was universally deplored.

"Well that beats me," said Harner. "I wonder if my memory served me a trick. I'll see." The command had moved many miles but the company was still with it and he immediately sought out the captain and asked him about Private Monson.

"Poor fellow!" was the reply. "He was the bravest fool I ever saw. I suppose they buried him with the rest."

After the war Harner did not return to his paper. The editors who had mutilated his copy and against whom he had an accumulated antipathy equal to that which the war correspondents, whose usefulness Harner could prove was first pointed out by General George Washington, were still in charge and he did not feel like coming directly under their orders. So he tried other things, but as the years went by and the other things did not make him rich, he succumbed to the inevitable and entered journalism again. To him was given a roving commission to visit and write up the places where the conquests of industry were making the wealth that was to pay the debts of the war.

In the course of time his duties took him to Spring Falls, a village which had become a city, with its splendid water-power utilized with great manufacturing on every side. He saw it all and finally he saw upon the side of a large mill, "William H. Monson." The name seemed strangely familiar, and yet he could not place it. It was gone amid all the thousands of forgotten things in the crowded years.

But the next morning it came like a flash.

And then the story. Colonel Monson told it at his own bedside after Harner had been presented to his wife as the man who refused to report him dead.

"But I did report you dead," insisted Harner.

"Yes, but it was all a mistake. They thought I was, but I wasn't. In fact it was almost as untrue as the report which reached me the day before the battle that a certain young lady had thrown me over."

And after that came the experience so interesting to hear in time of peace that were so hard to know in the days of war.

Food Economy.

"Does your dog eat meat?"

"Not as much as he used to," answered Mr. Jobbles. "I'm teaching that dog to Fletcherize. Yesterday I finished him to give a single small bone for an hour."

ORCHARD TOPICS

GOOD OUTFIT FOR SPRAYING

Devices That Will Aid Fruit Grower in Doing Thorough Work of Big Importance.

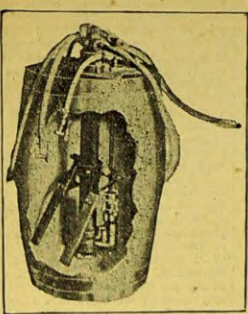

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The spraying outfit is not complete nor efficient unless properly equipped with useful accessories. Spraying devices that will save time or aid the fruit grower in doing more thorough work should be provided. The equipment need not necessarily be elaborate nor expensive, but should be sufficiently complete and modern so that the orchardist will not be handicapped when the time to spray is at hand. Spraying, to be most effective, must be done at critical periods and delays caused by insufficient or inferior equipment may mean a heavy monetary loss.

Large trees cannot be properly sprayed without the aid of a tower that will enable the sprayer to reach the highest parts of the trees and to see where and how he is applying the spray material. The height and shape of the tower will depend upon the size of the trees, and their distance between the rows. Square or oblong-shaped towers, built over the spray tank, are most frequently used, but in orchards where the trees are close together, a tower erected on the order of a carpenter's horse will serve the purpose better. With the latter form, a platform is built at a height to permit the operator to straddle the padded horse. The towers are usually constructed of wood, steel or iron.

Manufacturers of spraying machinery and accessories have placed on the market a large number of nozzles to which they have given various trade names. Although these nozzles differ somewhat in size and style, the principle of construction is not distinctive for each. The nozzles used by fruit growers may be roughly divided into two general types: (1) The Bordeaux, and (2) the eddy chamber or whirlpool type. This latter type is susceptible of further subdivision.

The Bordeaux nozzle may be adjusted to give a relatively fine fan-shaped spray, or a coarse-driving, or even a solid-stream spray, with all gradations between. Bordeaux nozzles do not easily clog and may be readily freed from coarse spray particles or other sediment by turning the barrel by means of the small handle on the side of the nozzle. These nozzles deliver a large amount of spray material, and in order to insure a satisfactory spray the pump must have ample capacity, and a high pressure must be maintained. The Bordeaux type of nozzle has been frequently recommended for the calyx application for the codling moth, to secure a coarse, driving spray. It is not so convenient to do orchard spray work with the Bordeaux nozzle as with the whirlpool or disk types, since the former frequently catches in twigs.

The whirlpool or cyclone type of nozzle is the most popular and useful for general orchard spraying. With this type the spray material enters an eddy chamber at a tangent, causing the liquid to whirl rapidly. The spray escapes through a small opening in the center of the top of the nozzle, producing a hollow cone-shaped spray. Some nozzles have been designed to produce a more or less solid cone-shaped spray.

RAISING MORE SMALL FRUITS

Advantages Outlined by Department of Agriculture—Raspberry of Much Importance.

The department of agriculture is trying to impress on the farmer the advantages of growing small fruits at home, not only for the money returns, but also as a means of having fruit for the winter by canning or preserving. Among these the raspberry seems to have importance, for it is grown not only in small plantations for the home and local market, but in some sections as the principal commercial crop. In these localities the raising of raspberries has become highly specialized, and methods of growing which are peculiar to this industry are employed.

By GEORGE E. BOWEN of the Vigilantes.

In the main, it cannot be said of America that she is without her Americans, or that the faith and service of the mass is un-American in spirit. Dollars do not always go with democracy, but when informed, inspired and enlisted they can be mighty useful to it.

There has been a mistaken idea in certain sections of America that dollars, according to the number of them, spelled "aristocracy."

They don't. That is an imported idea. And that it is persisting in the land of its origin, witness the war and the conservation of the few aristocrats, both external and inbred.

There have been, possibly, a few external aristocrats in America, who, in a moment of excessive vanity measured their social importance by the size of their material fortunes.

The war erased that absurd notion, almost with the first glare of the trumpet.

Millionaire Privates in Ranks.

There are millionaire privates in the ranks of the American army and navy who have renounced all the prestige of fortune for the privilege of comradeship.

In the crucial test humanity was first, last, and all the way between. Men are more than money. The outer veneer has been quickly shed. The man has emerged.

What he thought was his pride, in days of social and financial triumph, he finds was but a cheap and trivial plaything. Now, his real pride is a thing of purpose, power and dignity.

Before the war is over, dollars that hid in aristocratic seclusion or vaulted themselves in ostentatious power are going voluntarily and humbly to join the forces of democracy.

After the war they are going to develop a system of popular redistribution relieving the old congestion whose fevers broke out in many forms of luxury and extravagance incompatible with universal contentment.

The only aristocracy America wants or needs is of the heart and of the mind.

The shoulder touch of men on the march or in the trenches has welded this feeling into a living creed, a saving faith.

The escutcheon of American manhood may be either a splash of Belgian mud or a splotch of German blood.

Drawing True Men Together.

In place of the dollar crest will be the sign of the courage test.

There was a lot of sound democracy in the old ultimatum—"millions for defense, but not one cent for tribute."

Therein is the basic principle of resistance of Prussianism. That principle is drawing all true men together. It is putting service above self. It is asking America to take the gold of vanity and pour it into the cause of humanity.

The spirit of democracy is the only vital, uncompromising thing in a human world.

It laughs at dollars and dynamite and royal degenerates.

The America animated of this spirit is at last to carry it forth to a perishing world.

And the despised American dollar shall, with the courage, generosity and chivalry of American manhood, be the instrument of salvation.

The day of contribution is at hand. Where is your dollar?

—Strickland Gillilan.

First Colonial General Hospital.

It was on February 7, 1751, that the first general hospital was chartered in the colonies—the Pennsylvania state hospital in Philadelphia. Joshua Crosby was the first president of the institution, and Benjamin Franklin, who had been prominent in urging the establishment of an institution for the care of the sick, was the first clerk. It was in this hospital in 1769 that Thomas Bond gave the first clinical instruction in America.

The Difficulty.

"I understand young Loftus draws quite a small salary in his clerical work. He could make much more just now by going into a factory."

"Yes, but then he would have to draw wages."

Some Needed.

"That baby does nothing but scream all the time."

"Well, dear, I'm as loyal as you are, but you must agree with me that this is one case where we must be pacifists."

Grip Still Hanging On?

Back aches? Stomach sensitive? A little cough? No strength? Tire easily? All after effects of this dread malady. Yes, they are catarrhal. Grip is a catarrhal disease. You can never be well as long as catarrh remains in your system, weakening your whole body with stagnant blood and unhealthy secretions.

You Need PERUNA

It's the one tonic for the after effects of grip, because it is a catarrhal treatment of proved excellence. Take it to clear away all the effects of grip, to tone the digestion, clear up the inflamed membranes, regulate the bowels, and set you on the highway to complete recovery.

Perhaps one or more of your friends have found it valuable. Thousands of people in every state have, and have told us of it. Many thousands more have been helped at critical times by this reliable family medicine.

Prepared also in tablet form for your convenience.

IF GLUCOSE IS IN JELLY

Method by Which it is Detected is Simple and of Exceedingly Easy Application.

Glucose in fruit preserves may be discovered by the following method given by the Popular Science Monthly:

In the case of jelly a teaspoonful should be dissolved in two tablespoonfuls of alcohol contained in a glass vessel. In the case of jam or marmalade the same process is carried out, but it is necessary to filter off the solid matter by running the mixture through a piece of muslin. Allow the solution to become perfectly cool and then add an equal volume, or a little more, of strong alcohol.

If glucose is present a dense white precipitate slowly settles down. Where no glucose has been employed there is no precipitate, save, in some cases, a very trifling sediment of proteid matter which, however, is so small that it could not possibly be mistaken for the sediment which glucose produces.

The last named is not particularly harmful to itself, but it is very frequently used as an adulterant in supposedly pure preserves for extra profit.

Aesop on Russia.

About 2,500 years ago a slave named Aesop, one of the masters of literature, wrote, or perhaps dictated, our editorial for this week on Russia.

At least he is reputed to have done so.

It is as follows:

"Why should there always be this implacable warfare between us? said the Wolves to the Sheep. Those evil-disposed Dogs have much to answer for. They always bark whenever we approach you and attack us before we have done any harm. If you would only dismiss them from your heels there might soon be treaties of peace between us."

"The Sheep, poor, silly creatures! were easily beguiled and dismissed the Dogs. The Wolves destroyed the unguarded flock at their pleasure.

"Change not friends for foes,"—The Outlook.

If men's faults were written on their foreheads they would never remove their hats.

Be sure you are right, but not to sure that every one else is wrong.

GERMANS SHOOT DOWN 6 BALLOONS

Twelve Observers in 'One Day' Trust to Parachutes in Leaps for Life.

PERIL IN BURNING GAS BAGS

Flames Likely to Overtake the Descending Observers—Many Narrow Escapes From Death—One Relates Experiences.

Behind the British Lines in France.
—Leaps for life from burning observation balloons when attacked by German airplanes were described by observers of the British Royal Flying corps to an Associated Press correspondent when he visited one of their camps behind the lines a few days ago.

A balloon ascendant at the front is never
a light undertaking, and on one day
recently when the correspondent visited
a station in a fairly inactive part of the line six balloons containing 12
men were shot down by German airplanes, all within sight of one another.

One of the 12 officers who were compelled to reach terra firma by the parachute route told the story of his trip.

"We were perched at 3,500 feet," he said, "and had been up only half an hour when a column of smoke two miles southward attracted our notice.
"There goes No. 16," said my observer.

"Two white flecks floating earthward
told us that the two passengers of the balloon had got clear in time. Just then two similar specks appeared suddenly from under another balloon
warning us that the Boche was out for a wholesale killing this time. Six more white specks now appeared, and
since it was evident that the entire line was being attacked, I gave the order to haul down.

Sudden Attack by Airplane.
"At 1,000 feet, I ordered the winch stopped. No more balloons had been attacked, and although ours was now
the only one up, I could see British fighting planes ascending from the air-
dromes behind us to chase away the enemy. So I decided to venture up again. We ascended to 3,000 feet this time, and soon were at work again.

"Then suddenly something happened.
It happened swiftly as in a dream.
We didn't even see the German Albatross
approaching, but our ground officer
and his scouts gave us the alarm
just a second or two before the hawk was on us. I heard my observer, at the telephone, say suddenly, 'What's that? Stand by! Good Heavens!'
Then he turned calmly to me and said
with a smile, 'Sorry, old man, we must get out at once.' He helped me over the side first.

"I dropped and heard a 'wump!' as the parachute left its case. This was the last sensation I attempted to analyze as I fell like a stone for 300 feet.
I saw the balloon shoot violently upward, and then my view was blotted
out by a large white umbrella which suddenly appeared above my head, and I realized that the parachute had opened. I didn't look down as I felt my body swaying easily in the breeze. The roar above told me that the Albatross

had done its work and the balloon was afire. You cannot, of course, maneuver
a parachute, and there is always the possibility of the burning balloon over-
taking you and turning your only means
of escape.

"But before I reached the ground I saw far in front the Albatross crashing to earth minus a wing. She had been hit by a cluster of antiaircraft
shells.

"The next thing I knew was that I
was lying in the middle of a plowed
field, while a short distance off I saw
my observer coming across toward me."

Narrow Escape From Death.

All 12 of the officers of the wrecked
balloons escaped safely on this occasion. They are not always so fortunate. At this same station a few days before an officer was shot and killed
when dropping in his parachute. His balloon had been set afire by a German airplane, and, as usual, he and his companion took to their para-chutes. They had hardly got clear of the balloon when the attacking air-

WORK OF CENSORS FULL OF THRILLS

Women of England Find in It a Most Attractive and Lucrative Profession.

HELP DRAW NET ON SPIES

System is Perfect; One Marvels How German Secret Agent Can Slip
Through, but Slip Through
He Does.

London.—The latest and, to a woman,
the most attractive profession is that of post censor. To the well-educated woman in her service, the postal censorship offers opportunities
for advancement not to be found elsewhere. The pay ranges from $7.25 a week while learning, rising by increments of $1 to $15 a week, the maximum for an examiner, with additional war bonus. There are at least fifty women earning more than $1,000 a year, supervising thirty or forty examiners each. They have all risen from the ranks.

Now they hold the proud title of D.
A. C. Deputy Assistant Censor, to which they have been elevated not so much for their languages as for their general capacity. One girl of nineteen, engaged two years ago as a typist at $5 a week, rose to $15 within six months. Another, beginning at $10, drew $20 within eight weeks.

Yet the plaint of the deputy chief
censor is that "we cannot get enough
of the right kind of women to be censors." The latter is the executive head of that vast machine, created mainly for restrictive measures, which
yet feeds with valuable information
not merely the war office, of which it

plane swooped down on them, its machine gun in full play. One of the officers was killed, and, although the other escaped, his parachute was torn by a bullet.

The balloon commander told the story of an officer who had gone up
alone and whose balloon was shelled
when flying at 4,000 feet. On these occasions it is dangerous to haul down,
for the position of the winch is thereby given away to the enemy gunners. At last, after a cloud of shrapnel smoke
had appeared almost under the basket
and no response came down the telephone wire to inquiries as to whether
everything was all right, the ground
officer gave the order to haul down.
Ten minutes later the car touched the ground, and the observer was found
lying at the bottom of the basket, unconscious but unhurt. It was a bad case of shell shock, from which the
officer was several months in recovery.

A few days ago, at a nearby station,
a balloon suddenly caught fire, for no apparent reason. The two observers tried to escape in their parachutes, but
the blazing balloon overtook them, and they were killed. Theories as to the cause of the disaster were numerous,
but the one most generally accepted
was that the balloon had been fired by
an electric spark from a thunder cloud.

now forms an integral part, but the admiralty, the foreign office with its off-
shoots, the propaganda department,
contraband committee, and on which
the whole of our blockade activities
are based.

Is there enough of the right kind of women anywhere? The right kind of woman has many avenues open to her.
Some offer service in France—adventure, romance, the making of history,
the glamour of the uniform and a chance of honor and glory. But the woman censor, catch spies though she
may, gets but little limelight.

Herogies in Bureau.

There are women in the censorship
today with three or more years service
who are not least among the heroines
of war. They work in secret and in silence, behind closed doors, and their successes are hidden. They will not even tell their friends where they work, let alone what they do. Although the women examiners of mails
number some 2,000, against some 500
male examiners, there has been little mention of the women. The recent decision of the authorities to remove
some of the secrecy which shrouds the
woman censor will lead the right women
to apply for the work, though naturally there will be no disclosure which
can possibly be of use to the enemy,
and the discipline habit of calling everything confidential will continue.

The necessary qualifications are not merely languages, and what they do is not just to read other people's dull letters, as seems the general impression;
it is much more interesting than that.
There are women there who know no
tongue but their own; they have been chosen for their judgment and their unquestionable discretion besides their education and general knowledge. One would emphasize the value of judgment and the opportunities for exercising it; it is a question of weighing
up facts and coming to wise and reasonable decisions the whole time. To women with a happy blend of imagination and common sense the work is absorbing, at times thrilling.

It is an experience and an education, a privilege to be part of this wonderful mechanism, even as the humblest cog in its wheel of progress; to observe the details of its construction
and to watch it expand week by week.

Censor Tightens Net.

For as the war widens the censor
throws his net still further overseas,
tightening it until one marvels how the German secret service agent can slip through its manifold meshes. Slip through them he does, and that is why
the country needs her daughters to help to outwit him.

In the women's army or navy the
average pay of officers is $625 to $575,
with free quarters. They must leave their homes, and to the woman who is settled in London this is a difficulty.
But if the London dweller has not the rarest health that enables her all day
to stand on her feet, though she can do
a good day's work "on her head," if her
family falters at the thought of France,
let her come forward to the censorship
and stay in England. Here, as an ordinary censor or examiner of mails,
she will have responsibility, with scope
for individuality and the great chance
of bringing a spy to book by her keenness in drawing close the net.

national Guard and National army camps. The order states that many of the money lenders have been making $50, $75 and $100 Liberty bonds, frequently charging as much as 10 per cent interest on short time loans.

THE RED SACRAMENT

By Amelia Josephine Burr of the Vigilantes.

A comrade's blood had stained their
fation red;
The very wine of life was in their
blood
And yet on that grim sacrament they fed
And rose up strengthened to fulfill the task
The dead man left undone.
O God, we ask
That we by sorrow may be doubly
strong
To fight this war against imperial wrong
Until the dragon—or ourselves—be dead.
Our home, our birthplace, our native land.—Southey.

Win the War by Preparing the Land Sowing the Seed and Producing Bigger Crops

Work in Joint Effort the Soil of the United States and Canada
CO-OPERATIVE FARMING IN MAN POWER NECESSARY
TO WIN THE BATTLE FOR LIBERTY

The Food Controllers of the United States and Canada are asking for greater food production. Scarcely 100,000,000 bushels of wheat are available to be sent to the allies overseas before the crop harvest. Upon the efforts of the United States and Canada rests the burden of supply.

Every Available Tillable Acre Must Contribute; Every Available
Farmer and Farm Hand Must Assist

Western Canada has an enormous acreage to be seeded, but man power is short, and an appeal to the United States allies is for more men for seeding operation.

Canada's Wheat Production Last Year was 225,000,000 Bushels; the Demand From Canada Alone for 1918 is 400,000,000 Bushels

To secure this she must have assistance. She has the land but needs the men. The Government of the United States wants every man who can effectively help, to do farm work this year. It wants the land in the United States developed first of course; but it also wants to help Canada. Whenever we find a man we can spare to Canada's fields after ours are supplied,
we want to direct him there.

Apply to our Employment Service, and we will tell you where you can best serve the combined interests.

Western Canada's help will be required not later than May 5th. Wages to competent help, $50.00 a month and up, board and lodging.

Those who respond to this appeal will get a warm welcome, good wages, good board and find comfortable homes. They will get a rate of one cent
a mile from Canadian boundary points to destination and return.

HULLONIANS' HAPPY HOURS

The whist party given by Mrs. Newton Wanzer on Tuesday evening, April 23, at her cottage at No. 7, S. Street, was very successful and an enjoyable affair, thirty-five dollars being realized for the work of the Allerton Branch S. A. S. A. P. The 1st ladies' prize, a pair of hand embroidered pillow cases, was won by Miss Rosella James; 2nd prize, a crocheted knitting bag by Mrs. W. H. Sturgis; 3rd, a box of stationery by Mrs. Arthur Pope who tied with Miss Virginia Murphy and won out on "cut." The consolation, a glove purse, was awarded to a young lady who had only 2 points. The first gent's prize, 2 neckties, was won by Captain J. T. Gallenoy; the second pair, a pack of cards, by Mr. George Blaisdell, and the third, a pair of silk stockings to a soldier boy. The consolation, a pin cushion was also won by a soldier boy. Mrs. Foster Gardner won the box of candy and Miss Emily Gallenoy was awarded the sofa pillow for guessing the exact number of pieces in the quilt made for the "French Wounded" by the S. A. S. A. P. Mr. Foster Gardner who was the efficient auctioneer succeeded in disposing of several jars of home made preserves. An amusing episode of the auctioneering was the fact that Mr. and Mrs. Slicker, son being in different rooms hid against each other spiritedly on a jar of peaches. Mrs. L. P. Miller had charge of the candy contest and Master Newton Wanzer had charge of the quilt guessing contest. Fourteen tables played whist. A luncheon of cake and coffee and a chat over the cups concluded the entertainment.

Large numbers from the Hull and Nantasket ends of the town were present. At the first business meeting of the Allerton Branch of the S. A. S. A. P. the following officers were elected: Chairman, Mrs. Charles Randall; Vice-Chairman, Mrs. Newton Wanzer; Secretary, Mrs. J. M. Bryant; Treasurer, Mrs. J. F. Clark. The Association has a membership of 52. There were eighteen members present. This report was sent in by the secretary, Mrs. J. M. Bryant.

Mr. Robert Bryanton and Mr. John Wheeler have some little pigs which will be added to the Public Safety Committee's pens at Nantasket as soon as they are old enough. These little porkers were born in Hull.

Mr. Guy Ettinger passed the examination and has been assigned to restricted service as a telephone operator.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Leonard and daughter Dorothy were down over the end at their Hull Hill Cottage. They were also guests of Mrs. J. A. Wheeler. Maurine Murphy, son of Mr. and Mrs.

James Murphy of Stony Beach, left this week for the Coast Artillery School at Fortress Monroe. Maurice is a graduate of the schools here and one of the well liked and respected boys of the town. He says that he is sorry that he not enter school a year ago. Mr. and Mrs. Murphy have now given two boys to the service, Capt. Edward Murphy their oldest son, being fortunately located at Fort Revere for the time being.

Mrs. Carroll Claverly held a baked bean supper in the Town Hall, Hull, from 5.30 to 7.30 on Thursday evening, the proceeds to be used for war work.

Miss Emily Gallenoy guessed the exact number of pieces, 336, in the quilt made by the Allerton Branch S. A. S. A. P. for the French Wounded.

There were many of the Summer residents down over the 19th and weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. William Louden are doubled at their pleasant home on Allerton Hill. Mrs. Louden has been ill

all winter and is only partially recovered from a severe attack of nervous prostration. Her many friends hope the Hull air will effect a complete cure.

A letter received from Martin Murray in the service of his country at San Antonio, Texas, stating the he "highly appreciated the articles supplied by the Special Aid" and that "the women of Hull should be highly commended for their untiring efforts in behalf of the Hull boys who are in their country's service" has been received by one of the directors.

Rev. Frank Klugdon has been assigned by the M. E. Conference to Hull for another year. Much to the satisfaction of all who know him.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Fleck and three boys are to be permanent residents of the town. They have taken a cottage on V street, Allerton, and will remove here at once.

Lieut. (Junior Grade) F. C. Neal was home from New York on Sunday to visit his family, having been granted a 24 hours leave of absence. Lieut. Neal has only been in the service for a short time but his promotion has been rapid. He is a young man of more than ordinary attainments and is earnest and thorough in all he undertakes. Mr. Neal has made some sacrifice to enter the service of his adopted country, being the father of five small sons.

Letters from the boys at the front or elsewhere in the service of the country will be gladly published, also short sketches of their lives. There is no more interesting news at this time than that from our boys and everybody is interested.

Dr. and Mrs. J. B. Belliveau and daughter, Virginia, spent the holiday season of their Allerton Hill home. They entertained Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Leonard of Brookline, Mr. and Mrs. Fred. Tricker and daughter of Wollaston and Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Glunan and two children of West Newton.

HINGHAM HAPPENINGS

W. R. C. No. 60, of Hingham, will hold another sewing meeting in G. A. R. Hall on Thursday, May 2, from 10 a. m. to 2.30 p. m., when the regular business meeting will be held, also initiation, we regret to hear our comrade adjutant, Arthur Beale is so ill, but at time of writing is showing improvement.

The Rummage Sale held on Tuesday afternoon and evening in Loring Hall in aid of Dorothy Bradford Chapter, 60. E. S. was successful. It is estimated that about $60 was netted.

Mr. D. F. Magner, the shoe man, will put in a stock of ladies' stockings May 1st. These will be of shades to match the novelties in shoes.

Hingham has done exceptionally well in the matter of the Third Liberty Loan. The quota for it to raise was large compared to the population and yet $240,000 was raised and turned in on Tuesday. Judging from reports the town is destined to go well over the top. The Woman's Committee has been doing very excellent work. It seems to the writer that a great deal was expected of Hingham and that the town has "made good" is a matter for pride. Hingham was complimented by having such a big task assigned to it.

Mrs. Lane of Nantasket Junction, had a birthday on Sunday which she celebrated on Friday last with about 65 of her friends from the Baptist Church, Society and Sunday School, with a picnic at the Lane Cottage on Edgewater Cliff. Mrs. Lane served clam chowder and hot coffee and the visitors brought a basket lunch. They stayed until nine o'clock in the evening and having had such a good time were reluctant to depart then.

Mrs. Flora Atwood entertained the Friendship Club on April 4th. The next meeting will be held May 2nd. The Hingham High School will present "Bachelor Hall," a comedy in three acts on Saturday evening, April 27th at Loring Hall. The persons in the play are:

The Hon. Geoffrey Myrtleton: Congress- man from the 9th District.

Herbert F. Crehan
Silas Jarvis, Eliza Bassett, Myrtle- ton's Constituents from Rambletown, Harold L. Downing, Allen Mason Foley Ensign Jack Meredith, acting under sealed orders, Francis B. Cushing Pinkerton Case, an amateur detective,

Verde Lee, an amateur actor and author of the Fatal Shot, Walter B. Foley Jasper, the Butler at "Bachelor Hall," Eric Lincoln

O'Rourke, a policeman,

Marshall A. Wallace

Betty Vance, Myrtleton's ward,

Mary Cunningham

Polly Reynolds, an amateur actress,

Edith M. Lane

Mrs. Van Styne, who has dramatic as- pirations, Mary Frances Andrews

Claire, her daughter who has not,

Olive E. Jacobs

The proceeds of the play are to be divided between the H. S. Athletic As- sociation and the S. A. S. A. P. as a contribution of the Junior S. A. S. A. P. of the High School. Tickets may be obtained from members of the school. Curtain at eight. Dancing will follow the play.

Rev. David I. Wallace of this town has been called by the Sterling Fed- erated Church at Sterling to become its pastor. Rev. Wallace has been acting pastor for the last six months.

Mrs. I. W. Ricker, who was expected home for the past three weeks from Peekskill, N. Y., has not arrived up to time of writing.

Bonner & Co. have in a full line of val and hamburger trimmings, yarns and worsteds of all kinds and colors, serim and curtain muslins, shirt waists and ladies' underwear.

Mr. John Fay of Hersey street has received word that his brother Michael who enlisted from Ireland at the be- ginning of the war has been killed.

The Historical Society will hold its 26th regular meeting at the Town Of- fice building this evening, April 26, at 8 o'clock. Dr. Charles Whelan will speak on "The Training of the Medical Reserve."

Gilbert Rich has been home on a furlough. Everybody was glad to see Gilbert.

The Loyal Liberty Temperance Legion of South Hingham, was organized March 23d under the auspices of the W. C. T. U. with Miss C. F. Grant, Leader. The following officers were elected: Master Shirley Souther, President; Master James O'Connell, Vice-President; Miss Grant, Secretary and Treasurer; Master Charles Arkell, Librarian; Miss Drusilla Loring, Chorister. Meetings are held each Saturday at 1 p. m. with interesting programs and work for the war. Comfort bags and oakum picking at present occupy the spare time. The signing of the pledge and payment of ten cents annually constitutes member- ship. All are welcome. Honorary members received on same conditions.

The Hingham Mutual Fire Insurance Company whose adv. appears in another column of this paper is doing its pa- triotic duty in advertising the Third Liberty Loan. The advertisement se- lected by this company for the purpose of boosting the loan seems particularly appropriate and is starting in the ar- rest of thought that it gives.

A part of the exercises will be the unfurling of the service flag of the lodge, containing 14 stars. The dedi- catory speech will be made by Rev. Frank Klugdon of Hull, a member of the order and an eloquent speaker.

Mr. Joseph Hagar and family spent the week of the 19th at their home at the "Hills"

Mr. and Mrs. Kenard were in their home last week.

Miss Elizabeth Rogers spent the week with Miss Eleanor Richards.

Mr. Mallory who formerly worked for Mr. Peil and is now working for Mr. Philip Oakman and living in the Marcellus Rogers' house.

A large number of W. R. C. women attended the funeral of Mrs. Lucy Carver last Wednesday. Mrs. Carver was a charter member of the Corp and was an officer for many years, always doing her share. She was a member of the Unitarian Sewing Circle and very ac- tive in all good work. She leaves a husband and daughter to mourn her loss.

Several of the member of the C. E. attended the convention at Brockton the 19th. And were well repaid for going.

Mr. Ryder and Mr. Ellis Delano at- tended a fine service in Brockton last Sunday. The service was in connection with C. E. work.

Several G. A. R. and W. R. C. mem- bers attended the Plymouth Co. con- vention at Plymouth the 19th

George Porter entertained his family at a birthday gathering last Sunday.

Mr. Frank Hayes' chimney caught fire last week.

Miss Alice Whitney has been visiting her aunt, Mrs. Alice Duffee.

Mr. Leroy Bonny spent the 19th with his parents.

Miss Beatrice Porter and Mr. Ralph Ewell spent the week-end with Mrs. Reed at Duxbury.

Several reapiances have passed over this week.

The signals that were being tried out last week "off the Gunnet" were successful.

The Red Cross unit is meeting in Ventres Hall.

The Red Cross whist parties are still a success and those that attend enjoy a good time. Every one go and enjoy a good time with the rest.

Ray Delano is at home for 15 days. He is now second lieutenant.

The sewing circle social at Standish last Thursday was very successful. If you want a good time go to Standish.

The Camp Fire Girls with their leader, Miss Amy Watkins, attended the meeting in Masonic's Hall last Saturday.

Mr. Sneedon spent the week-end at his wife's former home. She was Miss Margaret Camron. Their son, about 5 years old is in the hospital for appen- dicitis.

Richard Shihott has been employed by Mr. Whitney as his chauffeur.

Mr. and Mrs. Feely have returned to their summer home.

Edward Baker is the champion trout catcher this season, as he beguiled an old fellow from Mr. Magoun's pond measuring 17 inches and weighing 2-14 pounds. Mr. Guy Sampson comes in second and several others third.

Miss Marion Coleman spent Saturday with friends.

The Liberty Loan meeting was largely attended and was also very successful. $41,000 being raised and $10,000 of the town, making $51,000. The quota being $40,000, the chairman has reason to feel proud of the hearty response.

Look out for Ocean Bluff news next week.

The G. A. R. and W. R. C. are in- vited for their memorial service at the North Baptist church this year. The Sunday previous to Memorial Sunday.

Mrs. Carl Held is visiting her mother.

NOT INCONSIDERANT

One of our good friends thinks that it is a joke on us that under the title "Hullman's Happy Hours," we sometimes print a notice of a death, but we reminded her that we recently heard a very eloquent minister preach a funeral sermon from the text "The day of a man's death is better than the day of his birth" and he proved it to the satis- faction of all his hearers.

The C. C. wishes to thank and ex- press through the medium of this paper her appreciation to the Record and Relief Committee of this town for the Chair- man of which is Mr. George Jason Jr., for the letter from Cohasset men in Ser- vice which they are permitting us to publish. Aside from these men in ser- vice whom the Record and Relief Com- mittee are serving with indefatigable energy, the public also owes a debt of appreciation and gratitude to this Com- mittee because they are bringing us by the printing of these interesting letters which tell the experiences of our very own Cohasset boys, several of whom are already "over there," and have been en- gaged in fighting the Huns, into such close and intimate touch with them and the great war of which they are now a part.

Mr. Geo. Jason, Jr., Chairman, Mr. Russell B. Tower, Treasurer, Messrs. Dudley S. Dean and Pennell and Mr. Mc- Collan compose this committee and through all the winter some of its mem- bers have worked every Saturday night until 12 o'clock P. M., at the home of Mr. Jason fixing things up in one way or another for the boys. All honor to the boys who are defending us on land and sea and all appreciation to those at home who are giving freely of their time, strength and money to "back them up."

Mr. Louis B. Mulvey, oiler, was home over Sunday.

The Cohasset Red Men went to Camp Devens on Saturday of last week to assist in the dedication of the Ambu- lance given to the Base Hospital there by the "Red Men" of New England.

Past Sachem George Jason, Sr., Fred C. Blomquist, Sachem, J. H. Winters, keeper of Wampum, represented the Red Men Council, and Geo. Jason, Jr., represent- ing the Record and Relief Committee and carrying tobacco, cigarettes to the Cohasset boys were those who attend- ed this memorable event.

Mr. Paul Victor Donovan, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Donovan, has been pro- moted from 2nd Class Fireman to 2nd Class Fireman after taking examina- tions. Mr. Donovan is on the W. S. S. Ozark.

Pictures of our boys in service are being shown every Saturday night at the movies in Town Hall. Already the pictures of Charles Fitch, Frank Salva- der, Eugene Power and a Group Pic- ture of C. K. taken last summer by Mr. Woodside, photographer of Hing- ham have been thrown on the screen and two more will be shown this week.

Mr. Earle Higgins of the Naval Re- serves, having gone with other volun- teers from Commonwealth Pier to Bar Harbor, Me., to bring back a big steamer to Boston.

Mr. and Mrs. Sales of Roxbury have been spending a vacation at the Smaller Fox Cottage at Sandy Cove.

The Ladies' Guild of the Episcopal Church held a May Basket Sale at the Parish House on Thursday afternoon from 3 to 6. Tea was served and ice cream and cake were for sale.

Miss Mollie Fitch has received a let- ter from Oscar Bandura. Mr. Bandura has been promoted to Warrant Officer from Chief Petty Officer.

The Girls' Friendly Society, connected with the Episcopal Church went to St. John's Episcopal Church, Hingham, last Sunday afternoon, attending a con- vention. Each society carried their ban- ner and the Cohasset Friendly girls had a beautiful new banner which Miss Gladys Roberts, an earnest worker, carried for the first time as they marched up the aisle at the Convention. This banner is red and gold. A most enjoyable meeting for all who attend- ed.

The Konaheist Camp Fire Girls of Beechwood attended the Greater Boston Camp Fire Council held at Mechanic building last Saturday evening and re- turned enthused for their work.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Eustis will remove to their bungalow on Beech- wood Street on May 1st.

Because of the illness of Mrs. Cyrus Bates with pneumonia, the reception which was to have then followed the marriage to her daughter, Miss Julia to Mr. Wm. Melcher of Hingham, next Saturday, has been cancelled.

Miss Caroline Petersen and Ruth Petersen gave a House Party to their friends at Shore Acres last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Prouty and Miss Martha Prouty, are removing on Thursday of this week back to their old home on Pleasant street from South Main street.

Mr. Vlechs from the Greek Mission in Lowell addressed the Benevolent Union last Thursday, most interesting by speaking of her work among the Greeks in that city.

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Nichols have returned home from spending the winter in Boston.

Miss Mary Stanley will be at home over the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stanley from Reed's Ferry, N. H., where she teaches.

A Food Demonstration was held on Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the Lower Town Hall.

Mr. Charles Bourne had the misfortune to be stricken with a severe shock as he was attending to his furnace last Friday. At time of writing he is re- ported to be more comfortable.

Mrs. Chas. Pratt, Miss Abbie Keene and Mrs. Fred Stanley, attended the Foreign Missionary Conference at First Church, Brockton, Tuesday of this week.

Mr. John Jason has returned to Com- monwealth Pier after being confined to his home for two or three weeks with asthma.

LAND COMMITTEE

The Public Safety Committee of Hull is now considering its summer work. The committee on land is J. R. Wheel- er, J. L. Mitchell, A. F. Pope and F. P. Richardson. This committee is now working on the question of the procur- ing and disturbing of land for purposes of cultivation.

Every landowner who has idle land on his hands which he is willing to loan the committee for the coming season is asked to notify the committee of this fact as soon as possible.

Every person who desires a piece of land for garden purposes should notify some member of the committee in writ- ing at once. No land can be promised unless this requirement is met.

This is your business. Every inch of land and every ounce of strength avail- able should be utilized this year for the production of food to help win the war.

TOWN OF HULL

Setting Fires in the Open.

An Act to Regulate the Setting of Fires in the Open Air.

Be it enacted, etc., as follows:

Section 1. It shall be unlawful with- in any city or town for any person to set, maintain or increase a fire in the open air between the first day of March and the first day of December except by written permission of the fire preven- tion commissioner for the metropolitan district within the said district, or of the forest warden or chief of the fire department in other cities and towns, or, in cities that have such an official, the fire commissioner, provided, that debris from fields, gardens and orchards, and leaves and rubbish from yards may be burned on ploughed fields by the owners thereof, their agents or lessees; and provided, further, that persons above the age of eighteen years may set or maintain a fire for a reasonable purpose upon sandy land, or upon salt marshes or sandy or rocky heath or bor- dering upon tide water, if the fire is en- closed within rocks, metal or other non- inflammable material. In every case such a fire shall be at least two hundred feet distant from any sprout or forest land, and at least fifty feet distant from any building, and shall be properly attended until it is extinguished. The forest wardens in towns and officials performing the duties of forest wardens in cities shall cause public notices to be given of the provisions of this section and shall enforce the same. Whoever violates any provisions of this section shall be punished by a fine of not more than one hundred dollars, or by impris- onment for not more than one month, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

Section 2. The provisions of the pre- ceding section shall not apply to fires which may be set, maintained or in- creased within the metropolitan district in accordance with regulations and methods approved by the fire prevention commission for the said district, nor to fires which may be set for the purpose of suppressing gypsy and brown tail moths in accordance with regula- tions and methods approved by the state.

CATCH THE IDEA?

Smart, Cool and Neat

Here is the last word in the tailored blouse and separate skirt for utility wear and it is a very creditable last word. It isn't likely that anything better will be developed for the work-a-day outfitting of the average busy woman of today, although we may have equally good designs in both blouses and skirts for the same sort of wear. Neatness is the keynote in this kind of outfitting and it is the most potent charm of summer dressing.

The blouse is a strictly "shirtwaist" model, made of white wash-satin which proves to be very practical and desirable. It is one of the few designs with a high neck and buttons straight up the front, and collar with small white pearl buttons. The cuffs button over with a single button and the waist will look well developed in wash silk, percale and other substantial weaves in cotton.

The skirt is simply two lengths of 54-inch wool material cut to fit around the hips and without plaits. The wide, shaped girde is pointed at the end where it buttons over a large bone button at the left of the front. Snap fasteners above and below the button hold the belt in a neat adjustment to the figure. This girde is the most popular that has appeared this season. The skirt is correct in length and width for a walking skirt, which should be in the neighborhood of two yards wide to insure freedom in walking, and reach an inch below the shoe tops for good style.

In cutting a two-piece plain skirt from wide material there is enough cut away to account for the girde and pockets as ample and original as those that are shown on the model pictured. Twice the depth of the pocket is needed for making it, one-half of this length cut into two straps that fold upon the pocket and fasten down, with bone buttons like that on the girde, but smaller. The straps and pockets are lined with silk of the color of the cross-stitch in the material. In this skirt a deep tan ground is crossed with bars of flag blue.

To Insure Becoming Hats

There are not many things that afford a woman more real satisfaction than to know that she is wearing a becoming hat, and her chances of acquiring such a valuable asset were never better than they are now. The shapes brought out this season are graceful and varied. There are almost no freakish hats, and there is a wide range of styles and considerable variation in size—in fact a hat for all types of faces. It is a good idea to give plenty of time to the selection of the right shape and to remember that trimming sometimes plays tricks upon the eye—altering the proportions of the shape apparently.

The first essential of becomingness in a hat shape lies in its proper fit. It is because the head size is too large or too small that many a pretty hat falls short of being a success on the head of its owner. When the head size is wrong all the lines are wrong; the crown too large or too small and the brim, therefore not in the right position. When this matter of first importance is taken care of the other details of color, and trimmings and style are not hard to manage.

Three hats shown here are irreproachable in style and quality of material and workmanship. The hat at the left is a good semidress model of sand-colored crepe georgette, having its upper brim of satin-straw braid in the same color. There is an odd drop made of the braid that extends across the front and it makes a fine background for the short and beautifully marked eagle quill that is posed against it.

The hat at the right is also of crepe georgette. It is a wide-brimmed model; one of those "hilo" brims that are becoming a fixture in the millinery styles of midsummer. It is beautifully made with a hatmasque finish about the edge of the brim. The trim consists of a collar, covered with narrow plaited ribbon, and small, conventional flowers of braid with stems. A hat very similar to this is covered with georgette tucked in the fashionable narrow cross tracks and finished with crepe flowers applied flat to the crown. They are hand made of the same crepe as the hat. These wide-brimmed, transparent or semitransparent hats, will make lovely headwear for the June bridesmaid and the June bride.

A hat of fine black milan faced with sand colored crepe finishes the group. It is trimmed with clusters of lacquered leaves, at each side of the front, in a bright shade of light blue. Hats are not easy to make this season. They require the work of a professional milliner.

Mr. Edward Hannigan is remodeling several of his houses on Whitehead ave. Mostly all the cottages on this avenue are let for the season. Miss Anne Canary entertained several friends over the holiday. It did seem strange on the 10th not to see the boats running.

Mr. and Mrs. N. J. Gury left for Laconia, N. H., this week for a short visit to their home. They have large real estate interests there and a beautiful home. Mrs. C. E. Moss has recently returned from Florida and will make her home with Mrs. J. M. Bryant at Allerton.

Waveland friends presented Mr. Horace Ettinger with a beautiful wrist watch suitably inscribed at the farewell party given him on Wednesday evening. The presentation speech was made by Mr. Fred L. Mitchell, who was first introduced by Mr. John E. Rudderham. A beautiful collation of sandwiches, coffee, cake and ice-cream was served. Dancing, singing and music was enjoyed.

The barn dance and pie social given by Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Glawson, Mr. and Mrs. John Glawson and Mr. and Mrs. Gillis at Armstrong hall on Saturday evening in aid of "The Boys in France" was successful in every way.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Learned and son, Frank, Jr., have returned to their home in Braintree from Florida, where they spent the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank S. Hickey have arrived at their beautiful home on Monument avenue, Kennerly, for the season.

Mr. and Mrs. Horace Hunt were at their cottage at Gun Rock over the 19th.

Postmaster Murray, who is a valued summer resident here has issued a warning against swindlers, now attempting to dispossess owners of their stamps. Such swindlers are telling a lie that the government intends to replace war stamps with a new issue on account of confusion in color.

The telephone number of the White Front Bakery is Hull 74-J.

Mrs. James Jeffrey was present at the whist party at Allerton on Tuesday evening and spent the time industriously knitting stockings for the soldiers.

Poole's Orchestra which gave such great satisfaction at Paragon Park ballroom last summer has been secured for the coming season by the management of Ferncroft Inn one of the swellest summer resorts in New England. They will have a jazz orchestra and furnish music at the Inn from April 19th to October 31.

Mrs. Hattie Galiani has been able to let nearly all her cottages here.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Murray have again returned to one of the Peace cottages for the summer. Little Priscilla has grown wonderfully and is a "big girl now."

Mrs. George Hatchard, daughter, Miss Ethel, and son, Harold, have returned to their summer home after a pleasant winter at their Back Bay home.

The Nantasket Orchestra composed of young people from Nantasket and Allerton will furnish the music at the High School play to be given Saturday evening April 27th. The editor of the Hull East Wind had the honor to name this orchestra. It has been popular from the start.

Mrs. Minnie Shaw has been somewhat relieved from her great anxiety over her son, William, and all rejoice with her. It is thought now that he has a strong chance of recovery. Mrs. Shaw's sister, Mrs. Callahan, spent the week-end with her.

Members of the Public Safety Committee accompanied the boys who go from Rockland to Ayer today. All the boys will be fitted out and given a good send off.

Mrs. Foster Gardner entertained the N. B. H. Whist Club on Monday evening. The first prize, a crocheter bag, was won by Mrs. Charles Smith and the second a china tea strainer by Mrs. Cadden. A most delicious luncheon of salad, rolls, coffee and lemon pie was served. Special mention is made of the delicious lemon pie because the crust was made of barley flour.

Corp. Victor Reynolds has been transferred to the school at Utica, N. Y., where he is being perfected as an expert machine gun mechanic and will be commissioned. Mr. Reynolds' ability has secured rapid advancement since he has gone into the country's service.

Mrs. Victor Reynolds, who was head clerk in the ordinance inspection department of the government having outlived the service to be near her husband has been transferred to Amesbury in a similar position. Mrs. Reynolds passed the civil service examinations with high marks.

Mrs. Mary Marston has returned to her cottage on Sagamore Hill after a pleasant winter travelling for a large pattern firm in New York City. She terminated her tour the last of February since which time she has been in

New York actively engaged in war work making surgical dressings for the National Ass'n. Mrs. Marston has offered the use of her dining room this summer for surgical dressings purposes. She is thoroughly interested in war work. The Guild of St. Elizabeth will hold meetings at the homes of the members until further notice.

Mrs. John Leahy of Waveland will return to her summer home for the season next week.

Wednesday evening Engine 3 gave a farewell party in Mr. Charles Gould's bungalow to Mr. Horace Ettinger, who is soon to leave for Camp Devens. The boys gave Horace a royal send off.

The Misses Mabel and Gladys Gould are visiting their mother, Mrs. Charles Gould.

The Guild of St. Elizabeth met at Armstrong Hall on Tuesday evening. Attention is called to the "adv." of Hasty Bros. on the front page. Doesn't the adv. make you long to observe "clean-up, paint-up week?"

"Gene," popular member of the working force at Hasty Bros. has promised several of his friends that he will give them a ride in "the peach basket."

Mr. W. W. Reddie recently returned from a visit to Mr. Robert Smith and family in Lynn and reports all well and happy. Good!

Mr. Charles H. Fleck and Mr. Frank S. Hickey have bought Daley and Wanzel's Express of Hull and Nantasket from Mrs. Cora B. Weston and both have become residents of the town.

Mr. Fleck was born in Cambridge, Mass. and attended the public schools of that city. He was with Saurin Cambridge Express for twenty years, serving six years as superintendent. In 1915 he accepted a position as superintendent of the Clearing House Parcel Delivery Co., and in the succeeding years, 1916-17-18, was General Manager of said firm, which company operated fifty automobile trucks. Mr. Fleck has had long, as well as large experience in that line of business. Mr. Hickey has been at the head of a large publishing house and is too well known in Hull to need any words of introduction. The new owners are much interested in the town and design to give first class express service. They enter into their new work with enthusiasm and desire to cooperate in every way in the upbuilding of the town; and desire the patronage and cooperation of all. Data as to location and telephone, etc., will be found in the advertising columns of this paper. As the new proprietors of this old and well known business bring a wealth of enthusiasm for the town and the business, the writer predicts for them success; and extends to them a cordial welcome as individuals and as a firm. Mr. Hickey has been a respected summer resident at Kennerly for several years and is a property owner, having two homes in that beautiful section of the town.

CHAMPION FISHERMAN

Mr. W. B. Sylvester, the well known painter of Hull is claiming, and rightly the championship of the South Shore in fishing. Everybody knows that "Win" is a first class fisher, and also a painter, but until his latest feat in fishing, no one knew of his prowess in luring the finny inhabitants of the briny deep from their haunts. Recently, Mr. Sylvester captured a 200 pound halibut. It was a beauty and measured 7 ft. 4 in. There is no camouflage about the catch for the fact is vouched for by his wife and several people who saw the fish. Not that we needed anyone to vouch for "Win's" catch, but we all know that it is hard for a fisherman to keep near the rock of truth. The fact that fishermen are disposed to exaggerate about the haul is because all successful fishermen are possessed of a vivid imagination, this latter necessarily goes with ability to fish successfully. It was some catch, coming from the waters around Hull. We offer this event as an added reason why people should come to our shores for the summer. The government is urging upon all greater conservation in food and just think what such a catch means in reducing H. C. L.

Mr. Fleck has had long, as well as large experience in that line of business. Mr. Hickey has been at the head of a large publishing house and is too well known in Hull to need any words of introduction. The new owners are much interested in the town and design to give first class express service. They enter into their new work with enthusiasm and desire to cooperate in every way in the upbuilding of the town; and desire the patronage and cooperation of all. Data as to location and telephone, etc., will be found in the advertising columns of this paper. As the new proprietors of this old and well known business bring a wealth of enthusiasm for the town and the business, the writer predicts for them success; and extends to them a cordial welcome as individuals and as a firm. Mr. Hickey has been a respected summer resident at Kennerly for several years and is a property owner, having two homes in that beautiful section of the town.

Mr. Charles H. Fleck and Mr. Frank S. Hickey have bought Daley and Wanzel's Express of Hull and Nantasket from Mrs. Cora B. Weston and both have become residents of the town.

Mr. Fleck was born in Cambridge, Mass. and attended the public schools of that city. He was with Saurin Cambridge Express for twenty years, serving six years as superintendent. In 1915 he accepted a position as superintendent of the Clearing House Parcel Delivery Co., and in the succeeding years, 1916-17-18, was General Manager of said firm, which company operated fifty automobile trucks.
